ARTEUR STEPS DOWN AND OUT

And With Him Must Go the Army of Rascals.

Washington, 'March 3 .- [Special.] - Although it is now past midnight, Washington presents a holiday appearance. All the principal streets are densely crowded, and multi-tudes sway along in good humor. Bands are playing, and military and civic organizations are marching in every direction. Many belated trains are to arrive before daybreak, and, with those due on the morning schedules, will add many thousands to the already crowded city. There has been almost an incessant procession up Pennsylvania avenue all day from both passenger depots. Pennsylvania alone has sent over seven thousand militia, and Baltimore has two full regiments to arrive

THE GEORGIANS PRESENT. The only Georgia companies here are the Clark Light Infantry and the Oglethorpe Rifles, of Augusta, with about forty men each and in fine style. The organizations already strived would make, by far, the largest inaugural procession ever seen. The Iroquoi club, of Chicago, the Hendricks club, of Indianapolis, and the Randall club, of Philadelphia, are the most prominent civic arrivals of the day. The sidewalks overflowed tonight, and the moving masses of people in the streets made the passage of vehicles almost mpossible. The capitol was densely crowded oth houses will sit all night. At least one thousand people will pass the night in the capitol, every available room in the city having long since been taken. The hotel preprietors have been driven to the mest ingenious devices to enlarge their accommodations. All the vacant stores are converted into barracks, with lines of bunks oron which rest thousands. To-night the cout quarters at the barracks and the navy ards have been fitted up in a similar manner. Georgia is represented by probably 200 visitors from all parts of the state. Among lay's arrivals are Dr. Connally, Julius wn, Elijah Brown, George Brown, R F. dex, Judge Tompkins, General E. as, John A. Stephers, E. G. Thomas, H. Alston and Charlie Johnson, of Atlanta; Charlie Bartlett and Colonel Best, of Macon

Charles L. Davis, of Columbus; Mark Johnden, of Milledgeville. THE ARRIVAL OF CLEVELAND. Though the presinent-elect arrived at sunap and twelve hours sooner than he was looked great crowd met him and cheered him as he was driven to the Arlington hotel. His all upon President Arthur was his only apcearance outside his rooms to-day, where h for te-morrow.

ARTHUR AND CLEVELAND. The One who Goes Out, and the One who

Comes in.
Washington, March 3.—At 7 o'clock this mora og, when the mists of night still clung around be Baltimore and Potomac depot, and but few essors were stirring, the special train bearing the resident elect and his party, drew up on the side

The committee of citizens appointed by Chaircan Corcoran to receive the president-elect had come informed by him that he desired to avoid a blic reception, and would prefer to receive om the committee at his hotel. They were also informed yesterday evening by a member of senate, designated by Governor Cleveland as the medium of further communication, that ther and private arrangements had been made for his comfortable recention at the station and Onverance to the hotel, but, nevertheless, when the party arrived only a few train bands and half dozen reporters were present. THE PRESIDENT-ELECT UNDER SCRUTINY. The president-elect was accompanied by itis brother. Rev. L. Cleveland, wife and child; his sters, Mrs. Hay and Miss Cleveland; his niece, Miss Mary Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Manning, and Colonel Daniel Lamont, wife and two children. After a delay of about ten minutes, Chairman Beret and Wm. Galt, of the inauguration committe, put in an appearance and were introduced to the president elect. Some twenty minlites were required to secure carriages, and it was len minutes to eight o'clock before the party dis-Meanwhile the news of the arrival of the party ad spread, and a crowed gathered around the man car, "Maranon," and stared hard at the aldent-elect, who bore the scrutiny with nimity. When the carriages arrived the paralighted and proceeded through the ladies waitby room to the north entrance, the president elect tading with Chairman Beret. He wore a blue recont and silk hat, and did not appear to be at all fatigued by his night journey. Carriages were en, and the party proceeded to the Arlington totel, where a hasty toilet was made and break-CALLED ON BY THE COMMITTEE. The sub-committee appointed by the inaugura general reception committee, to welcome the dent elect to Washington, called on him by ment, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Their man, Hon. Richard T. Merrick, after introhis fellow members, expressed their welne in a few well chosen words, and Governor and felicitously returned his acknowledget. An informal conversation ensued for some me, and the committee then took their ave. The membership of the committee was as lows: Hon. Richard T. Merrick, Hon. E. Hun-; Allen McIane, John K. Norris, John W pson, Hon. H. King, Dr. D. B. Clarke, Ad Mant General Hazen, David R. McKee, Rear-

Admiral Carter, Major G. C. Goodlace, Archibald H. Lowery, A. Ross Ray, Dr. J. M. Toner, S. H. Kauffmann, Rear-Admiral Stevens, Alex. Porter Morse and Geo. E. Hamilton. President elect Cleveland called upon President

Arthur this afternoon. Talk About the Cabinet.

Washington, March 3.—The Evening Star tonight says:

"The west has given up all hope of recognition in the cabinet. The best friends of Thurman and McDonald say to-day that neither has a chance to go into the cabinet. They say that they believe though they regret it, that two men from New York will be smoon the chosen, and that the administration will, a the first glause, be open to the criticism that it is made up in the interest of the cast, while the west will be ignored. This, they say, will be felt by leading democrats, but that patience will prevail and work out success and general as tisfaction in the end. Efforts will be made to-night to change the slate that Cleveland is understood to have decided upon, but it is contested that success in this direction is not expectec. It is believed that Bayard, Whitney, Manning, Garland, Lamar and Vilas are decided upon. Endicott and McClellan are both here, and the friends of each are opposing the other, and each expects to get the war department. The chances are said to be with Endicott, though the fight that is being made against him in the interest of McClellan may defeat both, and another may be selected, probably Collins.

A pressure to change the Schnett. Washington, March 3,-The Evening Star to

A PRESSURB TO CHANGE THE CABINET. Since Cleveland's arrival great pressure has been brought to bear on him to change three men whom he is believed to have selected for the cabinet. These are Whitney, Endicott and Vilas. Whitney has been opposed because he comes from New York, which will have Manning also in the cabinet, and because of his near relations to the standard oil company. The opposition to Vilas was not because of any objection to him, but because of ardent support of McDonald. His friends insist that he shall be the western representative in the cabinet, and severely criticise Hendricks for opposing McDonald. The complaint against Endicott is that he represents the aristocratic wing of the Messachusetts democracy, which has never heartily co-operated with the young and aggressive organization which men like Pat Col lins have made formidable to the republicans. The war against Endicott is really in support of Collins. The president-elect has been greatly im portuned concerning these cabinet places, since he came here. At one time this afternoon rumors of a charge in place of Eddicott and Vilas were rife, but late to night it is said on good authority that they will both surely be in the cabinet.

Arthur's Last Cabinet. THE EXCHANGE OF TRUNKS AT THE BIG DOOR.
WASHINGTON, March 3.—The white house build ng and grounds were crowded with visitors to day. The east room, however, was the only room open to sight seers. A policeman guarded the stairway leading to the upper portions of the use, and allowed to pass only those on official business. The president was kept very busy during the day signing acts of congress, and attending to other official matters. The members of the United States supreme court, headed by Chief Justice Waite, called just before noon and took leave of the president.

THE LAST CARINET. A meeting of the cabinet was held at noon, and arted about two hours. All the members were present. The session was devoted to clearing up of all official business requiring action during the present administration. During the session a messenger brought a large handsome floral cornicopia across which was laid a beautiful horse shoe formed of rare exoties. At 2:60 p. m., the president re-ceived the members of the diplomatic corps. At the legations were represented, and it seemed as if every diplomat in the city improved the oppor tunity to take official leave of the president.

THE TRUNKS ARRIVE. While the arrangements were being made for packing and removing the personal effects of the president and family a large express wagon drove up to the main en-trance and deposited a number of trunks, boxes and parcels, containing the personal effects of President elect Cleveland and his private secretary. They were taken into the house to be cared for until Cleveland takes up his residence there. The president's effects will be removed to-morrow.

WHERE ARTHUR WILL GO. After the president has reviewed the procession e will proceed direct to the residence of Secretary Frelinghuysen, whose guest he will be for two or three weeks. His son and daughter will accompany him. Mrs. McElroy will be the guest of Mrs. John Field, and Mrs. Haynesworth will be the guest of Mrs. James a Dumont, on Capitol hill.

The Crowds in the City.

ISITING SIGHTSEERS AND OFFICE SEEKERS. WASHINGTON, March 3 .- The corridors of the capitol are almost impassible. Dense crowds surhouses, peering through and awaiting the departure of the more fortunate occupants of the seats within. They are composed, for the most part of well behaved and well dressed people nd by far the larger half wear overcoats of army blue, and a large percentage of those in civilian fress are decorated with silken badges, indicating membership of visiting organizations.

An extra session remains a possibility, and the subject is one most discussed among the members and attaches of congress. The condition of business is such that the appropriation bills might be disposed of within twelve hours yet the possibility remains that some will not be passed. The great growds of spectators have a very inspiring effect upon the eloquence of many members. The weather is beautiful and the indications are favorable for a fair day to-morrow. THE GREAT PARADES.

Washington, on the eve of inauguration day, presents a scene of extraordinary activity, excitement and enthusiasm. The fronts of all the buildngs on Pennsylvanis, avenue are hearly concealed by flags, shields and festoons of bunting, so that street is almost literally walled in with tri-colored drapery. The terns of the street lamp posts have been removed, and instead of a single white light, four branches are substituted, surrounded by colored globes. Electric lights blaze on every corner, and along the pavements of the brilliantly illuminated sireets, under fluttering streamers and banners, move of inauguration visitors. crowds military organizations in full uniform, headed by fine bands and lighted by locomotive headlights, and flankers with torches, are constantly passing back and forth through Pennsylvania avenue and Fifteenth street, on their way to or from the headquarters of the president elect, and are greeted with cheers as they wheel around the corners between the throngs of spectators. Companies of state militia, in plain and services ble blue, alternate with picturesque squads of zouaves in showy red and white, and the New York political clubs in long overcoats and silk hats are followed by the Flambeau club, from Topeka Kansas, dressed in spectral uniform of unbroken white and carrying a peculiar pneumatic torchus, into whose hollow shaits they blow at intervals, so as to send up high, slender tongues of naphtha-like flame. Bands of all kinds are to be heard in every direction, four or five sometimes passing the treasury department together, but in different directions and playing differeni airs.

AT THE HEADQUARTERS. Around the Arlington hotel, where the president-elect is staying, there has been a great the evening, throng of people all watching the arriving and departing troops, listening to the serenades which the tands successively play under Cleveland's windows. The whole city seems, even at this late hour, to be astir, and presents a festive and holiday appearance, which is as striking as it is unusual. The strong rivalry between the two great democratic factions in New York has shown itself here in bold relief. Temmany, with nearly 1,000 men, arrived last night, with the Seventh regiment band, and this evening the county democracy strived with 1,100 or 1,200 men, headed by Gi more's famous band of about 100 instruments. Among the well known political clubs who are helping to make the streets lively, to-night, are the Cook county and Iroquois clubs, of Chicago the Duckworth, of Cincinnati, the Samuel J. Bandell and Americus' clubs, of Philadelphia, and the Central Democratic club, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, all strong in numbers, good looks and good clothes.

THE CALLS CONTINUE. After the call of the citizens reception committee, Mr. Cleveland continued to receive callers until 6 o'clock in the evening, when he dired at the hotel. Among those who called were Hendricks, Vilas, Secretary McCullock, Daniel Manning, Senator Gorman, Senator Garland and General Sheridan, with three members of his staff. Hendricks called about noon, and had quite a long talk with Cleveland. It was after eight o'clock when Cleveland and Colonel Lamont appeared in the parlors after dinner, and from that hour until 10 o'clock the president-elect continued to receive callers, who were admitted only after sending their cards. At 10 o'clock Cleveland retired. He will leave the hotel to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock for the white house, and from there will be driven to the Hendricks received a large number of callers at his rooms at Willard's hotel to-day. In the even-ing he was serenaded by several of the visiting organizations, and in acknowledging one of these compliments, by the Bush Zouaves, of St. Louis, and the Flambeau club, of Kausas, he said that he regarded the demonstrations of to-day as "inorsements of the principles of pure and honest

The Day's Ceremonies. OW THE AUDITORS WILL BE ARRANGED IN THE

SENATE CHAMBER. WASHINGTON, March 3.—The arrangements for he inauguration are complete, and do not differ rom those adopted four years ago, when the senate was democratic and the committee was composed of Senators Pendleton and Bayard, demo-crats, and Anthony, republican. The doors of the senate chamber will be opened at 11 a. m., to admit those who are entitled to admission. It is expected that about two thousand persons will be seated, and provision is made for that number of persons on the inauguration platform east of the capitol, the purpose being to provide there for those admitted to the senate chamber. The programmethegins, as usual, with the ex-presidents and ex-vice presidents. Of these General Grant and Mr. Hayes have filled the highest position, while Mr. Hamlin, of Maine, and Mr. Wheeler, of New York, are the only living vice presidents. None of these gentlemen will attend the inauguration. Next in order are the chief justice of the supreme court, the associate justices and the exassociate justices. Chief Justice Waite expects to administer the oath to Mr. Cleveland. If the weather should be such as to keep him within doors, then Associate Justice Miller, the next in seniority on the bench, will discharge that duty. The diplomatic corps, in full dress, will come in before twelve o'clock and sit on the right of the chamber, just behind the to abandon their seats can come in just behind the representatives of the effete monarchies. Then the officers of the army and navy who by name have received the thanks of congress are entitled to find standing room in the south-eastern corner of the chamber. Like the veterans of the wars, they are now few in number, not more than ten of the thirty so honored being able THE SENATE GALLERIES. One of the conspicuous paragraphs in the order of arrangements is that the reporters' gallery will be reserved exclusively for the use of the reporters. After that heads of bureaus, auditors and a few others will be assigned seats in the diplomatic gallery. The other galleries, not less exclusive. friends of the senators, their families and a few istinguished strangers. On the floor of the senate seats in front of the secretary's desk will be eserved for President Arthur and his successo and on their left Senators Sherman, Hawley and Ransom, the committee of arrange will be seated. On this occasion the space reserved on the right of the sec retary's desk for ex-presidents and ex-vice presi dents will be vacant. The senate, which now eeds both sides of the chamber, incommodes tself on inauguration day by requiring the left, or democratic side, to double up with the right or epublican side. Then the members of the diplonatic corps are put into the seats vacated by the democratic senators, and the house, which is largely democratic, is asked to stand behind the iplomatic corps and help support the wall of the west galleries.

THE CEREMONIES When Senator Edmunds has told the old senate ow grateful he is for their forbearance during the two sessions he has been president pro tem., he will swear in Vice-President Hendricks, and, after the new senators and those re-elected have taken the usual oath, the procession will be formed and proceed to the platform on the central portico of the capitol, preceded by the marshal of the District of Columbia and the marshal of the supreme court, followed by the dignitaries assembled in the senate chamber. After the cer emonies the senate returns to its chamber and the new president goes to the white house Should the weather prove unfavorable the inauguration of the president will take place in the senate chamber.

ESCORT TO THE WHITE HOUSE. Mr. Cleveland and President Arthur will be escorted to the capitol by the United States troops, including the marine corps and the brigade com posed of the citizen soldiery of the District of Columbia. The other divisions of military will form on streets east of the capitol and fall into line after the inaugural ceremonies so as to pass across the east front of the capitol, descending the hill on the north side, passing up Pennsylvania avenue via Fifteenth street to the white grounds, in front of whichthe reviewing stand has been erected. Thence the procession will march to Washington circle and the intersection of K street, along K to Connecticut avenue, thence by Farragut square to Rhode Island avenue, down Rhode Island avenue to Scott circle, thence up Massachusetts avenue to Thomas circle, where the parade will be dismissed, and from this central point the hundreds of organizations can rapidly disperfe to their quarters and eating places. FEATURES OF THE PROCESSI

General Sherman was chief marshal of the Gar field inaugural procession. General Slocum, who commanded Sherman's troops in the march through Georgia and occupies his former Washington residence, will be chief marshal of the inaugural procession this time.

THE DYING CONGRESS: ALL FEARS OF AN EXTRA SESSION BELIEVED TO BE PAST.

The Close Work by Which Several Measures Pa -The River and Harbor Bill Doomed-James Atkins a Victim of Mistaken Kindness -Other News About Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 3 .- [Special.] -Several appropriation bills are, at two o'clock this morning, still in conference, but all danger of the extra session is considered past. The river and harbor bill, in all probability, is doomed by an addition of five millions in the senate. Its opponents in the house are determined it shall not pass, since the senate has amended the five million dollar bill, which was compromised in the house. The friends of the Pacific mail subsidy came within two votes of carrying the house this afternoon. They are urging their supporters in the senate to insist, and it is believed the house will yet yield. The session, so far, has been one of remarkable dullness and decency, considering that it is the last night of the session. The restaurants in the capitol are dispensing cold tea in great quantities, but if the statesmen have imbibed much it has made them drowsy rather than hilarious. Dozens of members are now nodding in their seats, awaiting the reports of the conference committees.

The senate judiciary committee has not reported the nomination of James Atkins to be district attorney in Speer's place. For the second time Atkins is the victim to Arthur's mistaken kindness. It is thought that Cleveland will fill this vacancy very soon.

Townshend has just announced at two o'clock that he sees no prospect of the senate receding from the amendment to the postal bill, subsidizing the ocean mail service, and that the house must choose between receding from its disagreement or an extra session. Mr. Holman made a powerful appeal to the democrats to stand true to the principles of Jefferson, and resist all encroachments of the insidious and corrupting doctrine of subsidies. He characterized this as a job which corrupt influences are trying to force in congress in its dying

Mr. Horr, of Michigan, is replying and putting up the best case he can for the subsidy. Mr. Holman's speech and Mr. Randall's firm opposition have animated the opponents of the senate amendment, and the house will probably refuse to concur in the senate amendment. If the extra session shall senate amendment. If the extra session sname occur, it will be because the senate forces it on the proposition to vote eight hundred thousand dollars of the people's money to the Pacific mail steamship company. At this hour it is very uncertain whether any agreement on the postal bill can be had.

OF SEING UR BUSINESS

Senate. Washington, March 3 .- The senate was WASHINGTON, Merch 3.—The senate was called to order at nine o'clock. A quorum not being present, Mr. Dawes moved a call of the roll. The call showed twenty-five senators present, being fourteen short of a quorum. At 9:50 the chair declared a quorum present.

Mr. Dawes called up the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill. The two houses, he said, had agreed on the bill so far as all the items properly pertaining to the appropriation bill were concerned. The senate had struck out all the items of general legislation, and all items for depredation claims. Upon those, however, the house insisted. Since the bill was passed, Mr. Dawes added, the senate seemed to have weakened on its position as to general legislation. Some prayisons of the Indian appropriation bill were a bill were violations of our treaty obligations, as cell as unconstitutional. Mr. Sherman said if the senate regarded the house legislation as wise the senate rule should not interfere with it; if unwise and unsound, the senate should not recede, no matter what

After further discussion, in order to bring the question to a point and get the understanding of the senate, Mr. Dawes moved—though he said he would vote against his own motion—that the senate recede as to the provision of the bill relating to legal jurisdiction and procedure in cases of crippes committed. nd procedure in cases of crimes committed The senate refused to recede — yeas 4,

A message from the house of representatives ar nounced disagreement with the senate on the sundry civil bill.

The senate, on motion of Mr. Dawes, insisted on its amendments, and the chair appointed as conference committee, Messrs. Allison, Hale ed Beck.

Mr. Dawes explained the remaining differaces on the Indian bill to be the provision rehibiting the carrying of whisky into the ndien territory; that disarming the Indians, and that relating to the Oklohoma territory. These, Mr. Dawes added, were good provisions, but were at present in such form in the bill as reading the consideration of this matter, Mr. Conger, at 11 o'clock a.m., moved that when the senate adjourned to-day, the legislative day being the 2d of March until noon to-day, it be to meet at 1 p.m. on the 3d, this afternoon. EXPLAINING DIFFERENCES.

Mr. Sherman explained that an erroneous impression seemed to prevail that the committee of arrangements appointed by the senate to take charge of the inaugural ceremonies had, with respect to the conduct of the coming inaugural, departed from the old established rules. He (Mr. Sherman) had had sell the eld programmes looked up and he all the old programmes looked up, and he could positively state that not only had the house of representatives not been discriminathouse of representatives not been discriminated sgainst, but that in the precent instance, the precedents had been somewhat departed from in favor of the members of the house. He (Mr. Sherman) would be very sorry that any want of consideration should be shown to the house of representatives. He read the programme of 1845, to show that in the old practice the house of representatives was not recognized at all.

Mr. Hawley read the programme of Buchanan's inauguration, to show greater considera-tion shown now than had been shown then for the house of representatives.

Mr. Frye objected to further discussion on this subject and it was allowed to discussion on this subject, and it was allowed to drop. THE INDIAN CONFERENCE.

was again taken up.
Mr. Dawes moved that the senate insist on the remaining amendments.

Mr. Manderson moved that the senate recede as to the amendment extending the time for the payment for Indian land.

Mr. VanWyck satirically said the senate could not agree to legislative provisions on an appropriation bill when put on by the house, but could itself put on such a bill as the Pacific mail subsidy claim when it thought fit. John Roach, Jay Gould and C. P. Huntington had been defined at the other and of the caphad been defeated at the other end of the capitol, but had demanded that the senate should violate its own rules.

Mr. Van Wyck supported Manderson's motion, being a motion to recede. It had the precedence and was put first. The senate, 3 to 33, refused to recede.

Further conference was appointed on the Indian appropriation bill. Mr. Allison submitted the conference report on the general pension bill. No action was taken on it for the present. The committee on appropriations submitted the deficiency appropriation bill. It is the last of the appropriation bills before the senate committee on appropriations. It comprises over ninety-five pages and appropriates $1,491,133 more than the bill as it passed the house.

TUESDAY'S SESSION BEGUN.

At 1 o'clock Monday's session was formally adjourned and Tuesday's session began, the senators not leaving their sests.

On motion of Mr. Riddleberger, the bill removing the political disabilities of W. H. Mundaugh, of Virginia, was coased.

The general deficience was then proceeded with.

On motion of Mr. Miller, of New York, an item of $100,000 was added to the bill to complete the pedestal of the Bartholdi statue o liberty in New York harbor.

A number of amendments were added, none of which were of general interest, and the bill passed.

The fortifications bill was then taken up and passed, with but few amendments. At 7:20 the senate went into executive session. At

The senate, after recess, reconvened at nine o'clock and passed several relief bills. The river and harbot bill was taken up, as passed by the house. It appropriated $5,000,000 in gross. As proposed by the senate committee as amended, it appropriates $10,000,000.

Mr. Allison, from the committee of conference on the sundry civil bill, submitted a report showing that all the amondments of the senate relating to the public buildings, with only minor exceptions, had been disagreed to by the house. There was also a disagreement to the Mexican boundary survey and propositions looking to the sale of public property. Most of the other matters in dispute, he said, had been adjusted. He moved that the senate further insist on its amendments. The motion was agreed to, and the ments. The motion was agreed to, and the chair reappointed Messrs. Allison, Hale and Ecck as conference committee.

THE SLEEPY REPRESENTATIVES, Who Stay Up All Night and Sing the Hours

Who stay Up All Night and sing the Hours Away.

Washington, March 3.—In the house, at the close of the proceedings published yesterday, the body differently proceeded to do nothing while waiting for the sundry civil bill to come over from the senate. At two o'clock a recess of half an hour was taken. During this period the few members present proceeded to enjoy themselves, which they did by lolling lazily back in their seats, eigar in mouth and feet on themselves, which they did by folling lazily back in their seats, eigar in mouth and feet on deek, and giving vent to their patriotic sentiments by bursting forth into songs. "Dixie," "Star Spangled Banner," "John Brown's Body," "Yankee Doodle" and "Hail Columbia" followed each other in quick succession, and then, becoming more sentimental, the gentlemen expressed their admiration for "The Old Ealks at Home" and informations "The Old Folks at Home," and informed each other in musical accents that "There's a Land that is Fairer than Day." At 2:30 the house was called to order, and at 3:55 took a recess until 9 o'clock a, m.

LESS THAN A QUORUM PRESENT.

There were hardly a dozen members in the hall when the session was resumed at 9 a. m. The sundry civil bill had in the meantime come over from the senate heavily loaded with imous consent that this bill be taken up and the senate amendments non-concurred in, and sent to the conference committee, but objection came from Mr. Hepburn, and then there was a call of the house then there was a call of the house which closing at 9;30, showed the presence of only forty-five members. Mr. Randall's motion was then renewed and agreed to, and Messrs. Randall, Forney and Ryan were ap-pointed conferrees on the part of the house. After various ineffectual attempts to have the bill taken up by unanimous consent, and it being plainly impossible to have any public business transacted the house at 10 a.m. ad-terday morning to almost four this morning. the journal was not prepared, and its reading was temporarily dispensed with.

FIGHTING OFF THE ELECTION CASES.

Mr. Valentine immediately moved that the house take a recess until 10 o'clock to-night, his object being to prevent the consideration of the contested election case of Frederick vs. Wilson, of Iowa. The republicans refrained from voting on the motion for a recess and left the house without a quorum. No attempt was made to transact any business until Mr. Townshend submitted the report until Mr. Townshend submitted the report of the conference committee on the postoffice appropriation bill, announcing a continued disagreement. Mr. Townshend stated there were several points of difference between the two houses, the most important of which was on the senate amendment relating to the ocean mail service. He was opposed to this because he regarded it in the light of a subsidy proposition, and because it entrusted dangerous power to the postmester general.

Pending the debate, the speaker laid before the house a communication from E. H. Craig, representative from the fourth Alabama district, stating that he had forwarded to the trict, stating that he had forwarded to the governor of that state his resignation, to take effect at mid-day on March 3d. Laid on the tive to ocean mail transportation. The remaining amendments were concurred in.

The conference committee on the Indian appropriation bill reported a disagreement upon some of the disputed amendments, and a further conference was ordered.

The conference report on the pension appropriation bill was adopted. The house recedes from its disagreement to all the senate amendments, and as finally agreed to the bill appropriates $60,000,000. The house then, at 5:15, took a recess until 7:30.

vent the consideration of the election cases. The point of no quorum was raised.

Mr. Rebinson, of New York, made an appeal, as the last word he would ever say in Washington, asking the house to make a donation of any amount to Miss Mickleham, granddaughter of Jefferson, and requested unanimous consent for the passage of a bill making an appropriation for that purpose.

Mr. Hammond, of Georgia objected.

At 10:30 p. m. the deficiency appropriation bill was received from the senate. The senate amendments were non-concurred in, and Eurnes, Randall and Long were appointed conferrees. Time dragged along very slowly, the monotonous voice of the c'erk enunciating the names of members, being only varied by the names of members, being only varied by the members themselves passing lazily be-tween the tellers as the question of "no quorum" was raised upon various dilatory motions. Tired out from the lon session of last night, the representatives took no interest in the proceedings, rarely voting but leaning back in their chairs, smoking and fingering lead pencils, ornamented with ures of Grover Cleveland, and bearing legend "For President, 1885-1889," w come enthusiastic Cleveland man had dis-ributed in large quantities throughout the negro melody, and broke out into applause as each air was completed. Representatives Carter, Poland, Robertson and Money were among the members present, and Postmaster-General Hatton and ex Governor Blackburn were among the distinguished guests.

At 10:30 the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was submitted and agreed to.

At 1:46 a.m., the prospect is that the house will remain in session until early in the morning. It is now discussing the conference report on the post office appropriation bill; and it is the private opinion of many members that should the house insist on its disagreement to the senate amendment relative to ocean mail transportation, an extra session is unavoidable. Pending the debate on the river and harbor bill, Mr. Pendleton offered the following resolution, for which he asked immediate consideration:

"Resolved, That the thanks of the senate are lution, for which he asked immediate consideration:

"Resolved, That the thanks of the senate are due and are hereby tendered to Hon, Gerge T. Edmunds, senator from the state of Vermont, for the courteeus, impartial and able manner in which he has presided over its deliberations, and inlifilled the duty of president pro tempore."

The resolution was unanimously agreed to. Consideration of the river and harbor bill was resumed, only to be again interrupted by a new conference report on the Indian appropriation bill. The only remaining point of difference, Mr. Dawes said, was the provision relating to the Oklahoma lands. The house provision had arranged for a negotiation looking to an abandonment of the Indian title, but not prohibiting the settlement of lands meanwhile by raiders. He could not understand why the house was not willing to keep the people off the lands till the difficulties of title wils adjusted. If the negotiation provided for should be successful there would be no land left for the poorest settlers.

Mr. Vest, in moving that the senate recedes from its position, said if we did not take the house provision, and nothing was done, the old difficulty would be perpetual, and made worse by the lapse of time.

The river and harbor bill filled up the time between the conference reports.

New York, March 3.—The relations existing between Mr. and Mrs. William G. Fox, who live in Williamsburg, for a long time past have been of the most disturbing character.

Fox became enraged at his wife, who is said to be a very respectable worse. to be a very respectable woman, sober and quiet, because she would not give him ten cents to get a drink.

Finally, after quarreling with his wife and begging her for the money, Fox said:

"You might as well say your prayers, for I am going to kill you to-night. I'm going out now to get drunk so as to give me the conrage to do it," and then ran out of the house.

Fox was then drunk, but when he came back shortly after midnight he was perfectly crased from drink. Mrs. Fox was lying down with her clothes on, and at her husband's request get up and prepared him a cup of coffee. Fox then repeated his injunction for her to say her ed to throw her down. The woman orone aver from him, when the brute picked up a heavy dish containing steaming oatmeal and threw it at her. The missile, with its contents, struck an infant child lying asleep in its cradle, and the catmeal badly scalded it about the face and body.

Mirs. Fex then ran into an adjoining room, and when her husband followed her she picked up what she supposed to be a shovel, but which proved to be a short-handled ax, to defend herself. Fox sprang upon her, but, as she jumped out of his way, he fell prostrate on the floor. Mrs. Fox shoved her husband out of journed till eleven.

When the house reconvened at 11 o'clock, the speaker announced that owing to the continued session of the house from 11 o'clock yesthe room, but Fox smashed in the locked door, her weapon and dealt her husband a blow her weapon and dealt net with it on the head. Fox convulsively sprang forward, and as he caught his wife's dress she struck him five times again with the ax. He struck him five times again with the ax. He sank to the floor covered with blood, and Mrs.

ROME, Ga., March 3.-[Special.]-About one mile from Rome, last night, a horrible murder took place, a little negro child about one year old being the victim. It appears that Adeline Wright and Sarah Napper, both colored, had an alterca-tion, Sarah having endeavored to persuade Adeline to become a favorable witness for the hus-band of the former, who is now in jail charged with some misdemeanor. This Adeline refused to home for an hour, leaving the little child at home. Luring her absence it is alleged that Sarah gave the child poisoned bread and then beat it terribly on the head. The child died before the mother returned. A coroner's jury was held over the re-mains to day and in their verdict they charged Earah Napper with murder, the evidence being as above set forth.

ATHENS, Ga., March 3 .- [Special.] - Yesterda Mr. Hazleton, a sewing machine agent, went down into Oglethorpe county to repossess a machine he had sold a negro woman and who had not paid for the same. The woman grew indignant and abused Hazleton in an outrageous manner, and was about attacking him when he drew a pistol. She then apparently quieted down, and asked him to take a glass of wire which she brought him, but Hazleton noticed a white pow der floating on its top. He retused to drink it, when the woman again attacked him. Hazleton finally took possession of the machine at the muz zle of his pistol. He is confident the wine was poisoned and the woman intended to kill him.

LOVE IN A COTTAGE.

A Remance of Love, Perseverance and

Marriage. WAYNESBORO, GA., March 3 .- [Special.]-Au ocurrence of rather an unusual character and illusrating a manly self-denial, is now found among our society annals. A young gentleman of high standing, in devotion to his trade and good character, met his destiny in the form of a beautiful blonde of 18 summers, that chanced to visit here st spring. Among the various gallants who had laid siege to her heart, we find this young man by later developments to be successful. Our heroine resides at Thomson, Georgia, but on account of the quarantine of that place she made Marietta her home, temporarily.

SEALED BY MARRIAGE.

On last Monday was a week ago find our young knight in Marietta to see his lady love, and before leaving they are made man and wife. In one hour after the ceremony was per-formed the groom left for this place, and when he arrived here, much to the astonishment of his friends, the bride did not accompany him. Why, after one hour a bride, should she thus find her husband speeding away? Mr. R. F. Mobley, for it was he, is a man of much perseverance and practical talent, and knowing that he was not prepared to take his bride to a home, such as he would like, it was therefore arranged mutually that he should immediately, after being married, hasten home and arrange for his wife's reception, and return for and bring her to a new home.

BUILDING THE COTTAGE, Since his marriage Mr. Mobley has, with his own ands and plenty of aid, constructed and now has nearly completed his new cottage that looms up at a prominent corner in our town. How noble and good to be so considerate of his bride's comfort, and with what great satisfaction must the jeyous ring of his hammer afford him as he pondered over the hour that must soon come, when the portals of his new home would, so arranged and builded by his own hands, receive the wait

From the Albany, Ga., News.

The preachers in a good many places throughout the country are attacking the skating rink as a place of sinful amusement, but there doesn't seem to be any justice or reason in the position taken. Sins that are committed at skating rinks are censurable, just as are sins committed on the streets or in churches; but the proposition that it is sinful to witness or engage in skating at the places set apart for that purpose cannot be maintained. The abuse of anything should not be confounded with the use of it. Nobody will likely assert that it is wrong to skate upon the ice, when the conditions are favorably to that exhilarating sport. Skating has been an amusement among the young folks for centuries, without having the charge of sin brought to its door. But if it be not wrong to skate upon the ice, wherein consists the sin of skating on a floor prepared for the purpose? It will puzzle most people to find the differences in moral cast between the two. If there be any it will be found in favor of the rink, because roller-skating is attended with fewer risks than the same species of enjoyment on the ice. It is a bad idea for preachwith fewer risks than the same species of enjoyment on the ice. It is a bad idea for preachers to state their cases too strongly, and to saddle the use of a species of enjoyment with the sins that attach to the abuse of it. The influence of the pulpit is weakened whenever it undertakes to maintain an unterable position. In the way won the lattice tensible position. In the war upon the skating rink, as conducted in the south, the rink will get the best of the preachers. They are active men, as a rule, but they are not expected to perform very well on skates. Things that are harmless enough in themselves may be abused. Let the thing itself alone, but fight the abuse of it.

Kome Bulletin: Those Alabama boys have evidently been giving our esteemed correspondent, Rev. G. A. Nunnally, taffy. We hate to spoil a good romance, but we have to do it for the sake of preserving correct history. The word Enfaula does not mean "High Eluft," as our esteemed correspondent insists, in his letter to the Bulletin, but in the classic language from our forerunners, ye gentle savages, the word Eufaula means simply "Wet Dog." We have this from the very best authority—an Indian interpreter of this city. Rev. Mr. Marshall, whom everybody in Eufaula will remember, named his daughter Eufaula, being struck with the beauty of the word, and with some such idea of its meaning as that advanced by Rev. G. A. Nunnally, when he found out the real meaning of the word he wanted to change the name of his daughter, but after considering the matter the joke was such a good one that he let the name alone. The young lady is now married and settled down in life. After all "What s in a name?" This is not an anti-prohibition article but correct history. Mr. Charles Bartlett, of Macon, was in Thomson last week to institute suit for the recovery of a large body of land lying in McDufile and Columbia counties, most of which is now in the possession of B. E. Pearre, of Columbia, and B. A. Willingham, of McDuffie county. It is claimed that a life estate in these lands was given to Mrs. Henry G. Lamar by her father, Gasaway Davis, and that purchasers from Mrs. Lamar bought subject to that limitation. Mrs. Lamar having recently died the remaindermen bring this suit to recover the land. The suit involves over 2,000 acres of the best improved lands in the two counties.

Thomson Journal: In our last issue we stated that there were several negroes in the quarantine section who had been directly exposed to the smallpox and were expected to have it. One of these, a little child, developed a case yesterday morning. With this exception there have been no other cases. Nearly all of the old cases have recovered, and Mayor Durham reports only three cases now under treatment. There is no excitement here whatever. Business is in its regular channel. All of the stores are open—for fact none of them have at any time been closed—trade is reviving and the schools and church services resumed. Those who are here, and know the true condition of affairs feel no uneasiness whatever, but cannot help-being indignant when those at a distance, who do not know, keep insisting that the smallpox is raging in Thomson. There is no excuse for the gross catagerations and misrepresentations so persistently published of the amalipox in Thomson.

WEBSTER'S LANDCASE.

How the Great Lawyer Decided a Matter Against Himself.

Every one who has read Mr. George Ticknor Curtis' "Life of Daniel Webster" will remember John Taylor, Mr. Webster's tenant and factotum at Franklin, New Hampshire; and Robert Wise, the old Revolutionary soldier who came home from the war with Captain Ebenezer Webster, Mr. Webster's father, and built for himself a little cottage on one corner of the Webster farm, where he lived and died. Skirting the Webster property, and passing by the spot where Robert Wise took up his humble abode, there had long been a ferry way, leading to a ferry across the Merrimac river. The ferry was established during the last century; and after Robert Wise had lived there for some time it came to pe called Wise's ne time it came to pe called Wise's The ferryway was originally fenced on des, and it ran between the Webster farm and a farm belonging, at the time of which we are about to speak, to Deacon Far-ley. The fence on Webster's side of the ferryid been allowed to tall into decay, bu ence on the Farley side had been well up. In the year 1848, after a bridge had built across the river, the town voted to discontinue the ferry way and the ferry, and the land reverted, of course, to the original owner. Pike went away and procured a copy of the record which showed the laying out of the ferryway, and that all the land was taken from the property of Farley's grantor and none of it from the Webster property; a copy of the vote of the town discontinuing the ferry, and affidavit of a former tenant of Webster's showing that the fence on the Webster side had been removed and the whole ferryway taken into the Webster side! been removed and the whole ferryway taken into the Webster field. For many years attracted the attention of thousands of visitors to London. Although these wax-works were famous all over the

TESTIMONY.

Prof. H. C. White STATE CHEMIST.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA, Chemical Laboratory.

Office of State Chemist, ATHENS, Ga., June 26, 1884. I have been familiar for a number of years with the general character of Prof. Horsford's phosphate preparations. Recent examinations made some of the "Acid Phosphate" and "Bread Prenaration," show them to be exactly what is claimed for them in the circulars accompanying the packages. The "Acid Phosphate" is a concentrated solution in water of Acid Phosphate of Lime. The "Bread Preparation" is a mix ture of Acid Phosphate of lime, carbonate of soda and flour. When mixed with water, carbonic acid gas is liberated and a double phosphate of lime and soda formed and remains in bread when baked. In ordinary cream of tartar baking powders the substance left in the bread after "raising" is rochelle salts—a double tartrate of soda and potash. The phosphates are usefu mineral substances in animal nutrition and growth, the tartrates are not. In my opinion the Phosphatic Powder is, there fore, preferable to the others, so far as healthful-

ness is concerned. FOR SALE BY ALL GROCERS. TRY IT

PRESIDENT ARTHUR'S cabinet yesterday placed their resignations in his hands.

THE Illinois legislature meets with wonder I'nl regularity, and Speaker Haines improves each occasion by voting for Morrison. Nothing will be done now until after the twentyfirst, when the vacancy occasioned by the death of Representative Logan will be filled.

In the early dawn of yesterday a man ar rived in Washington with a sovereign commission from the people of the United States to assume the reins of government. It was a sight for people with old world ideas, and shows that well-trained treemen are more powerful than armies.

Considerable excitement exists in Dakota over the report that the Crow Creek reservation has been thrown open to settlers. The Indians are being gradually pushed from their reservations and are daily losing the few privileges for which they are dependent on the government.

It was a singular scene to see a lumbering express wagon drive up to the main entrance of the white house and dump out the trunks of a man who had never seen the building. When Arthur steps out to-day he can look back upon the last four years and meditate upon what kind of a man it takes for luck.

BEN BUTTERWORTH yesterday sent in his resignation as commissioner of patents. In order that he might not place himself in the category of the rascals who must go. Secretary, Teller in accepting, it complimented him tration of the office. Butterworth is a congressman-elect from Cinc nnati, for which he is largely indebted to Marshal Wright and his able republican thugs and assassins.

Ir now appears that England is to become involved with Russia regarding the Afghan frontier. With other complications contingent on the possible rebellion of Mohammedans in Bengal and other Indian provinces, and with its existing trouble in the Soudan, England is promised a lively time during the r. In the mea Italy seem destined to meet in inevitable conflict, in which Turkey will take part. The European sky is covered with a warlike cloud and the present year promises interesting de

MR. ARTHUR RETIRES.

The fact that Mr. Arthur will to-day step down and out and surrender his office to a democratic president will give his adminis tration some distinction-and the graceful ness with which he will perform this feat will give a fire flavor to the distinction. We have somewhere read the announcementperhaps in the editorial columns of the esteemed New York Sun-that Mr. Arthur is a statesman, but the announcement was premature. There are moments when the wisest editor allows the impulse of the moment to override his judgment; and there can be no doubt that the editor of the San was the temporary victim of his impulsiveness when he permitted himself to indorse President Arthur as a statesman.

As a matter of fact there has not been an act of Mr. Arthur's administration in which the slightest glimmer of statesmanship can be found? such small praise as can be con-scientiously bestowed on his administration is altogether of a negative character. As president, he might have done worse, but he might also have done better. It is fair to say however, that, as such matters go, Mr. Arthur has made a passable president. Hedged in es he has been by the constitutional barriers that interpose between the unbridled will of an executive and the interests of the country, he has made no serious mistakes. On the other hand, he has failed to manifest that spirit of enterprise which is the accompaniment of statesmanship. He has not interested himself to any remarkable degree in the welfare of the people; he has taken no s beorbing interest in questions of paramount

His administration, we should say, has been a little cleaner than that of Grant, but not so helpful to the country as that of Hayes-fraud though the latter was. He has made a tolerable president. He has made no serious attempt to shape matters, and therefore has been led into few mortifying blunders. But he made a cabinet officer of Bill Chandler, and catered to the folly of poor old Mr. Frelinghuysen (who was led by the nose by the foreign clerks in the state department in negotiating two absurd and unnecessary treaties-one with Spain for the relief of Cubs, and another which had for its object the financial relief of certain mendicant states in Central America. But we are not disposed to criticize harshly the administration of a man who will to-day make his best social bow to President Cleve land and retire to the shades of private life. His administration has certainly been a social success, and for this reason will be long remembered in Washington. Its conspicuous shates success socially is to some extent based on the sicken fact that it followed the long drouth of the Hayes administration. There has been no lack of "etiquette," so called, at the white house, but it is the "etiquette" of Delmonico's and the Hotel Brunswick, and, as a matter of fact, the white house establishment under Arthur has been run pretty much on the style of a fashionable up-town restaurant in New York city. The American informality which makes itself picturesquely felt-the freedom and familiarity of genuine society, such as is to be found in Virginia and in Bosten, has been wholly lacking. The result is that vulgarity has been highly fed in Washington during Mr. Arthur's administration. We make no complaint. There was no help for it; but the probability is that the change of administration will bring about many other desirable changes, not the least desirable being a change in the social atmosphere of the white house.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.

The Nashville World and other Tennesseean journals are engaged in dealing with a misunderstanding, in witness whereof we quote the following:

Mr. Campbell Wallace has given much advice to Tennessee about the railway commission system. He is one of the purest and ablest men on the continent. He resigned a splendid position in a bank to take charge of the present Georgia commiss It will be news in Georgia that the railway agents will soon have his head on a charger. They cannot answer him, and therefore seek his destruct

Now, this misunderstanding, whether on the part of the World or the railway agents, is a substantial one. So far as we know, Major Wallace has given no advice to Tennessee about the railway commission system. He has replied to letters asking for facts in regard to the railroad laws of Georgia, but he has not intruded in the railroad discussion that has been going on in Tennessee for several vears past.

What the World means when it hints that the railroad agents will soon have Major Wallace's head on a charger, we do not know. There was a rumor awhile ago that he had een offered a responsible railway position omewhere in Tennessee, but there was nothng in the rumer. Even if the offer had been made there would be nothing in it. His head is a very level one to go on a charger, and we have no doubt that the agents alluded to by the World can be prevailed upon to forego the proposed decapitation.

THE AFGHANISTAN BORDER TROUBLE Both Russia and England have long proessed a willingness to make Afghanistan a neutral zone, a buffer between the Russian advance in Central Asia and India. But there is trouble in defining where the neutral zone begins and runs and ends. A mixed boundary commission was appointed by the two governments to define the Afghan frontier, and although appointed some time ago they have nev r met. They are, however, on the frontier a: the present time, and the latest dispatches are to the effect that both governments have come to an understanding to leave the entire boundary dispute, including e location of Penjdeh, to the commission.

The important strategic points in that secion of Asia are Askabad, Mery, Penideh and Herst Askahad is in the Russian territory near the Persian border. The Russians are pian sea to Askabad. Mervis not far off, and rom Mery there is a practicable route for troops along the Murgat river to Penjdeb. according to the British maps, Penjdeh lies fiv or sixty miles south of the Afghan border, but the Russians do not seem to accept the maps of the English geographers. Herat ies in a southwest direction about 150 miles from Penideh. Heret is the real key to India. An army can reach t through the practicable Tajand valley, and from Herat there are good roads to Candahar. he Russians do not, however, hold Herat. and probably will not while England retains her present strength. The ameer of Afghanistan is wholly under the control of England. and his entire policy is dictated by the English resident at Cabul. Herat is a strongly fortified town, lying in a fertile valley. It is estimated that an army of 150,000 men could there find supplies. The Russians have seized Penideh, but the entire dispute has now been referred to the boundary commission. There will, therefore, be no present move on Herat, and Mr. Gladstone is relieved of one very perplexing question. If the boundary commission is able to agree upon a boundary line-between Khorassan and Afghanistan the fear of a Russian advance will be indefinitely dismissed, and England will be able to apply all her energies to the solution of the Soudan problem. The Russian approach to Herat will, however, be closely watched by the Indian officials, and no surprise is possible on either side. THE first duty of a democratic postmaster general will be to change the names of the Hattouton, and Hattonville, and Hattonborough; post offices all over the country.

TO-DAY the republican party will begin to take a long needed rest. It will likely grow gray and honest before it is again called on to rob the people

WILLIAM W. SECOR, of New York, is a gilded ude and an uvnarnished fool. Some time ago he struck up an acquaintance with a young girl em ployed in a printing establishment, and married Secor's mother lived in a brown stone front, and was horrified when she heard of the match She received the bride kindly, but said that as she had been a working girl she could not countenance the marriage. The unfortunate wife continued to live with her mother, but one day, when she wanted money, she visited her bushand at his office. She failed to get anything and learned that Secor represented to his fellowclerks in the office that she was a blackmailer, the wife of a sea captain, who was trying to get money from him. After several months she learned that Secor was engaged to a society lady. Hunting up this lady, Mrs. Secor showed her marriage certifieate. After this exposure, the dastardly husband fied to Arizona. Upon his return his wife had him arrested for desertion. A sharp interview took place between the young man and the judge: "Why don't you support your wife, sir?" askel the judge. "I have enough to do to support myself," answered the prisoner. "You married her?"
"I did, but I must have been foolish." "How is ' If I had known she was a working girl I would not have married her." The judge was stounded. Informing the young man that it was disgrace to be a working girl, he ordered him o be locked up. It seems that Secor is an Episcoalian while his wife is a Catholic. He claims that

Amid the splendors of Athenian civilization this flatuold fellow loafed around the grog shops, engaging other loafers in conversation, with a view to exposing their ignorance through a series of artful questions. His grand system, as it has been called, was simply a rude process by which a man of some information nicceeded in exposing the ignorance a man of more limited knowledge. There was nothing grand in this, and bald-headed, thick-lipped vagabond who spent his time going through such performances for the amusement of a crowd of street idlers should not be held up to modern generations as a great philosopher. After this fashion the Times editor ses of some of the fam-men of Athens. Of course if this represents the best public sentiment of the age, it is high time to send our Greek grammars to he junk shop. PARNELL's speeches sway millions of Irishmen And yet the man is no orator. His first speech was an ignominious failure. He was introduced to a vast audience in Dublin under the most favorable circumstances. He had a great cause to defend. A sea of excited faces met his gaze. But the young man caught no inspiration from the cene. His eyes were dull, his face was cold, and his manner was embarrassed. He looked doggedly at his audience. With a generous impulse the people gave bim a round of cheers. Even then sluggish blood was not stirred. At last he said, "Fellow countrymen." Another round of enthusiastic cheers Like a bronze statue the speaker stood a few moments collecting his thoughts. Again he said, "Fellow countrymen." More cheers. The speak er's lips moved. He was evidently uttering sentences, but not a word could be heard. . Th pore applause. Parnell grew calmer. He placed his hands behind his back, and uttered a few caningless words. Even his friends had to admit that the speech was afgreat failure. It needed that he was a man of sense, but that he acked fire and energy. The after success of Par pell is still a mystery to those who heard his first speech in Dublin.

Smoking Among the Puritans. From the New York Post.

The early settlers of the Plymouth colony we greatly addicted to smoking, which practice subsequently became so common that the weed was smoked in church during service. The custom, it seems, soon caused considerable annoyance, as the exercises were greatly disturbed "by the clicking of flints and steel to light their pipes, and clouds of smoke in the church." Hence, in 1669, the colony passed this law: "It is enacted that any person or persons that shall be found smeking of tobseco on the Lord's day, going to or coming from the meetings, within two miles of the meeting-house, shall pay twelve peace for every such default." Under this law were fined Richard Berry, Jedediah Lombard, Benjamin Lombard, and James Maker, "for smoking tobacco at the end of Yarmouth meeting-house on the Lord's day." PERSONS AND THINGS.

The supreme court of Texas held its sessions in "greecry," which in those days meant a saloon. The population of the United States was 20,745,400.

The papers were dull compared with those of to-day. Party spirit ran high, and political speeches were printed with whole sentences and paragraphs in italies and capitals, by way of caling attention to the points made by the orators. The bank question was a great problem in those days, and the system, or lack of it, one of utter confusion and continual loss.

and the Aighan Troops Instructed to Regist Them ne Hundred and Fifty Thousand British Troups Ready for War With Russia— Other Notes From the Soudan.

London, March 3 .- In the house of lords this afternoon, in answer to questions respecting the position of the government on the Afghan frontier question, Earl Granville, secretary of state for the foreign affairs, admitted that the Russian troops had been advancing in the disputed territory of Afghanistan, and when requested by England to withdraw from their advanced posts, they refused to retire. Peter Lumsden bad advised the Afghans not to retire from before the Russian troops, but to dispute every inch of ground, and said that the British government would uphold them. When further pressed by the marqui of Salisbury, tory leader, Granville said that the latest reports received from Sir Peter Lumsden were that the Russian troops now occupied Tulfikar pass, about twenty miles south of Puli, Khatum, a post of the Turkomans, were also stationed at Sulekheope, a few miles distant from Penjdeh. Lord Granville said that representations had been made to Russia, earnestly pressing her to give stringent orders to estly pressing her to give stringent orders to her military commander to refrain from any forward moevment which would be likely to bring about a collision from the Russian and Afghan outposts. In reply to our remon-strances, continued Lord Granville, Russis declared, on Feruary 24, to withdraw her advanced posts at Sareyaria and Tulfiker pass but gave assurance that the Russian officer but gave assurance that the Russian officers had been ordered to carefully avoid conflicts with the Afghans, and that complications need be feared in event only of attacks being made by the Afghans upon the Russian posts. Sir Peter Lumsden has exerted himself to prevent collisions, and has advised the Afghans to maintain themselves at the posts they now occur. This advice at the posts they now occupy. Lord Salisbury asked whether the Russian outposts were within the boundary of Afghanistan.

Kimberly, secretary of state for India, in reply, said that the ques-tion of the precise boundary of Afghanistan was the subject of the present negotiations between Russia and England. He had no hesitation in saying that England regards the Russian outposts as within the Afghan boun-dary, and that they form a considerable advance in that direction.

The marquis of Lathian asked if the whole question of peace or war between England and Russia, depend upon the chance of a squabble between Afghan and Russian outposts.

HAZEN PUT TO REST. The president to-day ordered a general courtmartial to convene in the city of Washington on the 11th for the trial of Brigadier-General W. B. Hazen, chief signal officer of the army, on charge of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline, in having officially and publicly criticised the action of the secretary of war for not following his recommendation to send an expedition to the relief of Lieutenant Greely, in September, 1883,

Orders were also issued to-day for the suspension of Hazen, and for him to consider himself under arrest until further orders. Captain Mills, of the signal service, has been ordered to duty as acting chief signal officer, pending the result of the trial of Hazen. It is understood that the action of the resident, in this case, was precipitated by an interview with Hazen, published in a newspaper of this city yesterday, in which Hazen is represented as placing on the secretary of war the responsibil ity for the loss of so many members of the Greely party.

The Turn Verein Ball.

The Turn Verein ball in the Centennial hall last night was a grand success. Fully sixty-five couples were on the floor, and some of the masks were extremely handsome. The dancing was participated in by all present, and was greatly enjoyed. The music was furnished by Wurm's orchestra and was fine. The supper by Thompson was up to his usual style. The tollet set for the best masked lady was awarded to Mrs. Berlin. The gold-headed cane for the best masked gentleman was awarded to H. Hinkler. Everybody present had a most excellent time,

The Artesian Well. The depth of the artesian well at midnight was 1,452 feet. The drill is in white sand rock, and is working slowly.

Stocks as Reported in the New York Stock

Exchange. NEW YORK, March 3 .- The stock market ha eeu extremely dull on slight fluctuations most of the day, the traders showing no disposition to speculation on either side. The fluctuations were consequently within the narrow limits, as were shown by the fact that from the opening of the board until nearly two o'clock, the range in the active stocks were less than 1/2 per cent. The feature late in the afternoon was Nortwestern stock which rose 11/4 per-cent from the lowest that the earnings were $61,000 less, and tho whole market became weak and continued so till the close. The prices generally, however, were only fractionally lower. Sales 212,000 shares. #### THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movements in Grain and Produce.

By telegraph to The Constitution. CHICAGO, March 3-There was a fair trade ou barge in the leading articles, with more attention paid to the grain list, which, after the first few hours of trading, showed a firm tone and steadily advancing prices. Provisions, on the contrary, were quiet and a little lower. Wheat opened easy and lower on the depressing influences of an increase in the visible supply statement and heavier receipts. Early the local demand cut a very little figure-not enough to prevent the leading future rom breaking off %c. With unfavorable foreign advices at this point there was more or less shor covering, sending May up 3/c to 79%c, but it gradnally sagged off a few points, though the fe was steady and moderately firm at 1 o'clock, hav-ng again recovered to the highest point. Corn, so far as the market is concerned, was alshowed an increase, but there were few orders on the floor, and the general trading so light that the supply statement cut but a little figure. No. 2 session all futures closed steady and firm at outside

Qats were only moderately inquired for, and in an entirely speculative way, transactions being confined to seller May, which moved 1/4c. Provisions were about steady and fairly wel traded in though nork was probably the weakest article in the provision list, May option in this deal falling off more than in any other option. The opening quotations all around were the highest of the day. When the weakness in wheat became quite; pronounced there was a decline of 25c in May pork, but the market subsequently steadied and recovered a little over half of the decline. Lard and ribs were relatively steadies, and on the morning session all closed about steady.

Moncrief Detects a Coal Thief-A Lively Chase and a Few Shots-Patrolman Russell has a Mile Race and Fires Three Shots at the Fugitive, but to no Avail.

Three thieves came near surrendering their ives Monday night.

About three o'clock that night Patrolman Moncrief, who was on duty in the rear of the fifth ward, was approached by a man who informed him that a negro was then stealing coal from a flat car near the old rolling mill The patrolman knew his informant be a reliable man, and at once started to the designated. The moon was shining brightly, and before the patrolman reached the place he saw the thief standing on the flat-car, filling a sack. Patrolman Moncrief attempted to slip up on the thief, but the thief caught sight of the patrolman, and slinging his sack across his shoulder started off on a run. The patrolman was then about twenty steps away, patrollian was then about twenty steps away, and called upon the thief to halt. The thief paid no attention to the call, and Patrollian Moncrief fired. The report of the pistol caused the thief to quicken his pace. The patrollian fired again, and the thief fell, but he was on his feet again in a second, and finally succeeded in getting away. PATROLMAN RUSSELL FIRES THREE TIMES.

About four o'clock yesterday morning Patrolman Russell, who resides on South avenue, was awakened by a neighbor whose place had been invaded by a thief. The thief was in the kitchen when his presence was detected, and was trying to open a door leading into the house. Patrolman Russell accompanied the gentleman home, and entering the house attempted to capture the burglar. The burglar, however, detected the presence of the patrolman and started to leave. His departure was man and started to leave. His departure was ascertained before he was fairly out of the kitchen and a warm chase ensued. Patrol-man Russell tried to catch the thief, but soon man Russell tried to catch the thief, but soon saw that the thief was too quick for him. Not wishing to lose the burglar the patrolman drew his pistol and fired. The report was followed by a loud yell from the fugitive, and the yell was as quickly followed by a renewed effort to escape. The thief went down South avenue at an astonishingly rapid rate. The patrolman followed as rapidly as he could, but was unable to overtake the thief. The three shots did not cause him to halt, and after a chase of more than a mile Patrolman Russell drew off. more than a mile Patrolman Russell drew off.

TAKING CARE OF HIS CHICKENS.
T. W. Booker, who resides on West Hunter T. W. Booker, who resides on West Hunter street, had an exciting struggle with a chicken thief yesterday morning about daylight. Mr. Booker is quite fond of chickens and has a large coop in his yard, in which he keeps his chickens during the night. Yesterday morning he was awakened by his chickens. They were going on at a terrible rate, and in a second Mr. Booker suspected that a thief was at his coop. He arose hurriedly, and grabbing his pistol started for his yard. As he emerged from his back door he thought he he emerged from his back door he thought he detected a man standing at the coop door. Instantly Mr. Booker decided to attempt the capture of the thief. He was satisfied that his exit from the house had not been detected by the thief. He stooped down low and by moving in the shadow of the house succeeded in reaching the fence. Then he had no trouble in reaching the fence. Then he had no trouble in gaining the coop on the side opposite the thief. Mr. Booker could then hear the thief "cluck" to the chickens, as though he were trying to quiet them. Mr. Booker quietly eased around the coop, until only a corner was between him and the thief; then he made one jump and landed right under the thief's nose. As he came to a halt Mr. Booker shoved his night of the thief's face, aveing:

As he came to a halt Mr. Booker shoved his pistol in the thief's face, saying:

"Oh, I've got you; give up."

"Well, I guess you ain't got me, and I ain't going to give up," said the thief, at the same time grabbing the hand in which Mr. Booker held the pistol. In the struggle Mr. Booker's hand went up, and the pistol went off. The struggle continued until the thief secured possession of the pistol. Then he turned upon his ion of the pistol. Then he turned upon his heel, and walked away, saying:

"Good morning."
The thief was a negro, and nearly twice as large as Mr. Booker.

Stealing Overcoats-Knocked on the Head-Raiding a Printer's Chicken Coop,

Yesterday afternoon a thief entered the hallway at No. 217 Whitehall street and stole two way at No. 217 Whitehall street and stole two overcosts from the hat rack. The overcosts belonged to Mr. J. W. Supple and Mr. M. A. Bagby. The gentlemen were at the supper table when the sneak thief made his call. The thief did not leave his card and the idetectives have no clue except discriptions of the coats One of the coats was nearly new and the other one was good for the present winter.

STEALING FROM A CHURCH. The meanest thief in existence was in Atlanta yesterday. Night before last he broke into the Fifth Baptist church, and, not content with stealing about half the coal in the bin, the thief carried off the Rev. Mr. Nor-cross's baptismal pantaloons. GOING FOR MAJOR WINTER'S CHICKENS. Major Henry Winter, the proof reader for The Constitution, lives at 319 Luckie street. The major is away from home all night, and one of the last things he does before leaving home in the evening is to coop his chickens and lock the coop door. This he did on Mon-day night. Yesterday morning when Mrs. Winter went to the coop to release the fowls Winter went to the coop to release the lowis for the day, she was surprised at seeing a half dozen chicken heads scattered about on the ground near the coop. The coop door was closed, but when the lady attempted to unlock it she found the lock broken. The door was then thrown open and the coop found empty, but for the presence of a haif grown bantam. Some time during the night a thief had visited the major's home and stole his chickens—a round dozen in all. round dozen in all.

HE WANTED HER JEWELRY. A man who gives his name as J. H. Lisk faked a Collins street resident last night. About ten o'clock Lisk entered the house. He was neatly dressed and was not suspected of being a thief. While telking to one of the women he stole her breastpin. The theft was not detected until after the man had gone. Patrolmen Holland and Smith were then called in and made acquainted with the theft and given a description of the pin. Later in the night they run the man in and recovered

THEY WILL RE-ORGANIZE.

The Board of Police Commissioners to Meet Monday Night, Monday Night.

The board of police commissioners will convene in regular session next Monday night.

Mr Stephens, who succeeds Mr. Hancock, and Dr. Goldsmith, who succeeds himself, will be inducted into office, and a re-organization of the board will be expected. The board will be composed of Captain J. W. English, Mr. Paul Jones, Dr. Amos Fox, Dr. W. T. Goldsmith, Mr. John Stephens. Captain English if the present chairman of the board, and Dr. Goldsmith the present secretary. These are the only official positions in the board. With the induction of Mr. Stephens and Dr. Goldsmith, the board becomes a new one, and a chairman and secretary will be and Dr. Goldsmith, the board becomes a new one, and a chairman and secretary will be chosen. The organization was discussed considerably on the streets yesterday, and much interest will be aroused in it. It is not known as yet what shape the members will be in by next Monday night. It is believed and hoped that Dr. Fox will be able to attend the meeting and take a hand in the organization.

The board will have a general "shaking up" with the entire police force the last of the present month. The entire force from the chief down will be elected at that time. Alchief down will be elected at that time. Al-ready the members of the force are beginning to shape up and feel around. Chief Connolly will be a candidate for re-election, and Dr. Foute, one of the stationhouse keep-ers, will throw a grappling iron out after the position. Captains Crim, Manley and Couch are all candidates for re-election, while a new man will be put in the place made vacant by Captain Ald-ridge's resignation.

Patrolman Parrish has been detailed as acting captain and takes charge of Captain Aldridge's squad until an election can be had. Captain Aldridge's successor will be elected next Monday atternoon after the board of police commissioners re-organize. Already a dozen candidates have shown up.

A BOOMING BUSINESS,

the Old Stand of Jack, Ward & Co.

Messrs. Nunnally & Rawson have purchased the entire stock and business of Jack, Ward & Co., No. 56 Whitchall, and thus become the successors of Jack & Holland and Jack, Ward & Co. They will carry on business at this old stand, which for more than quarter of a century has been a famous confectioners and baking center.

Having large resources, and being already well established as a wholesale manufacturing firm, Messrs. Nunnally & Rawson desire before merging their establishment into their Whitehall street house, to dispose of most of the old istock of Jack, Ward & Co. They will sell the toys, dolls and fancy goods and candles, now on hand, for anything that they will bring, in order to make room for goods of theirown manufacture. The candles heretofore sold at 4ffrty cents a pound will be offered at ten cents, and the reduction in other lines will be equally sweeping.

A new foreman has been engaged from one of the largest New Orleans factories. He is one of the most celebrated French candy makers in the country. With every facility and with the best materials and artists, it will be the rule of this establishment to turn out none but the purest and best confectioneries. Baking will be made a specialty, and country. With every lacking and whith the best materials and artists, it will be the rule of this establishment to turn out none but the purest and best confectioneries. Baking will be made a specialty, and ancy cakes and all'kinds of bread will be kept constantly on hand. The delivery wagon system will be discontinued, and the money thus javed will be given to the customers of the firm in the shape of more bread than can be purchased elsewhere for the same money. Instructions have been issued to add two ounces to the five cent loaves, which were of standard weight before.

The opportunity now offered of purchasing candies, fancy goods, toys, etc., at about cest figures is something new in this line of business. The stock to be disposed of at this tremendous reduction is one of the largest and finest in the south, and the goods will be in many instances literally thrown away. A better chance to secure tempting bargains has never been offered to the public.

It is gratifying to see a firm of such experience, leave existed and enterwise taking shold of never been offered to the public.

It is gratifying to see a firm of such experience, large capital and enterprise taking hold of this celebrated business stand with the determination to make it one of the leading industries of the south. The goods turned out of this establishment will be equal to the finest grades manufactured in the largest cities of the country, and the inducements offered to buyers both at wholesale and retail cannot be suppassed anywhere.

Milton Nobles:

As this good comedian will be here in a few days, we give to our readers the opinion of Peck's days, we give to our readers the opinion of Peck's Sun on this actor and his plays:

Nobles, the jolly dramatic Bohemian, has come and gone again, leaving our sides sore and our vest buttons scattered all around. Nobles is the prince of laugh makers and the laughter he evokes is of the clean wholesome kind. The kind of fun we always want our wives and sweethearts, for some other fellow's wife or sweethearts) to enjoy with us. We smile instinctively when the copy with us. We smile instinctively when the copy comes in for Nobles' ad. The bare mention of his name conjures up the persecuted maiden suspended in space, and the awful "villain" with his body full of bullets, whe "still pursued her," and the irrepressible quill Driver, cheeky, brainy, imaginative who can lie, love and fight to get a ready item, carries us back to our own youth again, ere we had grown bald-headed in the harness, and round, shouldered from tottering around our government bonds. Nobles is one of us, in spirit if not in fact.

The Lorellas.

Everybody likes fun, and nearly every one wants it as a special derivative. This explains why negro minstrels and such plays as the Tourists, The gro minstrels and such plays as the Tourists, The Hanlons, Bunch of Kevs, Rags Baby. Peck's Bad Boy, have had such a success in our country. The Lorellas come before us in the same line, bringing fun, excruciating fun, in representing the adventures of a party of American tourists in Europe. Although the fun in this case is generally at the expense of the brother, it is nevertheless welcome and appreciated, and every one will want to go and enjoy a good laugh, even if he does so at the mishaps and misfortunes of an American cousin.

A conference of all the temperance societies in the city was held at the office of J. G. Thrower yesterday. The following was the action: Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed from each temperance society in the city to take charge of a meeting to be arranged for Governor St. John, and that all that has been done be referred to that committee and carried forward as the best interests of the cause may suggest.

Inauguration Day.

To-day Mr. Grover Cleveland will be made president of the United States. May it bring happiness ident of the United States. May it bring happiness, prosperity and united friendship to every section of this great country. Alf Ford will inaugurate new prices in the fancy grocery business. He will sell cheap for spot cash his fine stock of foreign and domestic fruits, old wines and brandles, choice confectionery, nuts, cigars, all kinds of can goods, sweet cider, champagne cider, ginger ale, pilsner beer, etc. He receives daily all the delicacles of the season. Goods at wholesale and retail, at No. 31 Peachtree street.

Don't fail to attend the auction sale of diamonds and fine gold and silver watches at A. F. Pickert's, No. 5 Whitehall street, commencing Saturday, March 7th, 30 days auction sale.

Gee Haw tobacco is good, and it sells.

Mr. Peter S. Van Houten, who has been the superintendent for Messrs. Wilkins, Post & Co., for six years, wants employment in his line. He can give the best references as a capable man to manage machinery and iron works of any description. He can be addressed 338 Luckie street. But for the suspension of the firm he would not be out of employment, and wants to remain in the south.

1901LL MEN AT DINNER. All'ta 1899.16 Mother Earth,

From the New York World. The Titans of the city-long legged mortalswhose special reason for gathering is a common and natural admiration of their several lengthsmet at the Hotel Brunswick and under specially wide tables stretched their limbs at the fifth annual dinner, or as they preferred to style it in toploftical language: "The grand Olympian banquet of ambrosial night." It was in honor of Mother the best effort of the house. There were about eighty of the long-limbed mortals present, or in yards about one hundred and sixty, or in lineal feet nearly five hundred. There were the usual twittings about shrinkage in stature when some laggard came in, and when a particu larly fine compliment was intended the compli mentor put on a well simulated look of surprise and wondered when the complimentee would ever stop growing. There was a remarkable collection of extra long overcoats, while the canes which stop growing. There was a remarkable confection of extra long overcoats, while the canes which the members had brought stood in a corner of the coat-room like a group of disused sloop masts.

Titan Wagstafi began the speech-making with the hope that all who were at the bauquet would be well and able to be with the Titansat the sixth and next annual banquet of the "long 'uns." When Bro, Titan Hiram D. Faulkner undertook to give an interminable allegory he was promptly tody to "double up." or, in common language, to sit down, for when a Titan sits down it is pretty much on the plan and action of a fack-knife doul" ag up on itself. Here and there sfifticienty all music was thrown in to make the programme, ery enjoyable one, though it is a fact which count be gainsaid that the Titans are not such go d singers as they lottly imagine themselves to be. They sing with much gusto, however, and make no end of effort. Titan Aplington having told a story of ex-Titan Abe Lincoln, Titan Oiney, of Catskill, sang of the brave Prometheus in characteristic Titan style. It was time for early morning service in the churches ere the Titans had finished their fun.

The Missing Letter.

From the Washington Evening Star. Almost as sad as the loss of life itself is the destruction of the mail at the late railroad accident near Alexandria. It is painful to think what suf-fering, misunderstandings and estrangements must follow a calamity of this kind. Nothing is more aggravating than to wait long in vain for an expected letter. And in a large collec-tion of letters there are certain to be many of the greatest importance. There will be appeals from those in distress to friends
